

Question for March 9, 2004 Quiz 12 PDF

12) Researchers interested in studying allometric constraints want to fitted a possible relationship between coral dry tissue biomass and several measures of respiration (micromoles of oxygen per coral per hour and micromoles of oxygen per milligram of tissue per hour). What type of analysis should they use?

